Church with burial in Long Grove Cemetery at Maynard. Survivors include a daughter, Mrs. Gordon Sanford of Waverly; three sons: Milton of Elkader, Elmer of Solon and Louis of Manchester; a brother, Anton Haas of Maynard; three sisters, Mrs. Delos Watentaugh of Maynard, Mrs. John Reuckert of Waterloo and Mrs. Howard Hartman of Edgewood.

Funeral services for Glenda Kelly, 4, will be at 1:30 p. m. Saturday at United Presbyterian Church with burial in the Long Grove Cemetery.

Survivors include her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Kelly; three brothers, Gerald, Paul and Galen, all currently hospitalized at the Sumner Hospital, and the paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Kelly of Maynard.

Delving-Wright Funeral Home in charge of both arrangements.

Gov. Harold Hughes, accompanied by Iowa Adjutant General Junior Miller were briefed on clean-up efforts and organization before touring the destruction.

"It looks like everything is pretty much under control here," the governor commented.

'Good Organization'

Gen. Miller added, "This is good organization, real good."

"I'm relieved the damage is not as extensive as it could have been," Gov. Hughes continued. "The Belmont disaster looked worse from the air because it was a smaller community and the damage was not spread out like it is here."

"Ultimately, some financial recovery will be available through government funds, but it will be small in comparison to the damage."

Before going on the tour, Gov. Hughes walked to the Salvation Army mobile unit outside the telephone office, which is being used as headquarters, and shook hands with Mrs. Brigadier Alveda Graham of Waterloo to thank her for her services.

Mayor Sam Mazzioffi said the National Guard troops will probably remain in Oelwein until Sunday.

Maynard Harder

While briefing the officials, National Guard Maj. Clayton Balmer of Cedar Rapids emphasized Maynard's plight saying, "Maynard, percentage-wise, was hit harder than Oelwein."

At Maynard, residents and volunteers worked a good day through the debris to salvage the pitifully small number of items still usable.

The new $120,000 St. Paul's Lutheran Church, which was to be used for the first time Sunday, was a total loss.

A member of the congregation said, "Workmen had just moved the organ from the old church to the new church Monday. The altar had just been installed."

Neither could be salvaged.

Shocked Faces

Even though the chain saws and trucks caused an unceasing clatter, somberness prevailed. Crews didn't converse unless to communicate for working purposes. Their shocked faces reflected their feelings.

Mrs. Louis Ponsar lived one house up the street from the Gordon Kelly residence. The house in between was in the process of being sold by Mrs. Edna Vargason, who is living with her son in Iowa City.

All were two-story houses. All were reduced to their foundations.

Mrs. Ponsar, 77, died at Mercy Hospital in Oelwein. Kelly's four-year-old daughter, Glenda, died at an Iowa City hospital. His pregnant wife, Geraldine, is in serious condition in a Waterloo hospital. His three boys were taken to the Sumner hospital.

Stores Reopen

Meanwhile, several severely damaged downtown businesses in Oelwein reopened for business, without electricity. "One was a bar, but most were stores which provide tools and equipment for cleaning up the debris and mess left by Wednesday's tornado."

Customers were buying such things as axes, saws, hammers, lanterns and camp stoves.

Ken Hartung, president of the Oelwein Chamber of Commerce, declared, "The Oelwein business community is down, but not out. We all feel we'll be back in business."

PRECEDENT

The Mariposa will berth at the recently-opened Queen Salote Memorial Wharf, and the 400 passengers will disembark for several hours' sightseeing before the liner leaves the same day.

A Sad Farewell to Viet-Bound Guardsmen

The wife and children of Sgt. Orville Fisher of Madison, Wis., bid a tearful goodbye to Dad, a member of the 826th Ordinance Co. of National Guard, Sgt. Fisher and his 240-man outfit will spend three months in Kentucky before leaving for Asia. The unit was one of 70 summoned recently to meet additional demands of the Vietnam War.

Poor People's Campaign Faces Housing Headache

WASHINGTON (AP) — Poor People's Campaigners by the hundreds are pouring into the nation's capital once again, setting the stage for a hectic week-end that promises to give campaign officials enormous housing headaches before Monday.

The caravan that the Southern Christian Leadership Conference field staff organized around the country weeks ago are converging on "Resurrection City, U.S.A.," which at this stage of construction hasn't room for them all.

Emergency Meeting

Washington Mayor Walter E. Washington and other city officials discussed the problem at a 2 1/2-hour emergency meeting that lasted until 2:30 a. m. Friday. Washington did not announce any decisions as he emerged from the meeting that also concerned health, food and welfare problems.

The Rev. Bernard Lafayette, campaign coordinator, said the main problem is that 90 per cent of the expected donations of lumber were not made as promised.

If the picture doesn't improve, he said, there will be room for just over 1,000 persons at the camp by next week. Officials estimate they have housing ready for 700 persons in the plywood and plastic shantytown in sight of the Lincoln Memorial.

Five hundred campaigners, mostly from Mississippi and Alabama, are living there now, and SCLC temporarily placed 340 more who arrived Thursday from Chicago in Washington churches.

Another 700 due to arrive Friday from a caravan that began in Boston will be housed in suburban Maryland churches, officials said. They aren't yet sure where to send the 1,000 persons to arrive Saturday from a Midwestern caravan that was halted for two days in Pittsburgh to gain construction time.

And there is a group due in Sunday from the South.

Enough Churches

There are enough churches to house everyone temporarily, top staff members say. The problem will be getting them moved as rapidly as possible into the camp.

On top of all that, no one knows just how many sympathetic or curious visitors, attracted by this week's news stories of the growing city, will flood into the area.

Harried campaign officials, visibly tired from a series of unpredictable small crises like Thursday's visit of Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and several mayors, are hard at work on a fund-raising drive they feel will speed construction.

Construction has been slowed, organizers said, by rain and a shortage of money and volunteers.

Neriem in Demo Senate Race

DES MOINES (AP) — Robert L. Neriem, a Des Moines insurance man, Friday obtained nomination papers from the Iowa Secretary of State's office to run for the Democratic nomination for U. S. Senate.

Neriem is a member of the Des Moines planning and zoning commission and was an unsuccessful candidate for the city council in 1965.

Gov. Harold Hughes had been the only announced candidate for the Democratic nomination.

weather is good enough in the area for the air strikes and supply flights which U. S. forces require in such remote sectors.

The North Vietnamese and Viet Cong, by contrast, have no air power or air supply facilities in South Vietnam and have never been dependent on them.

U. S. officers had said earlier that the allied force would not try to hold the valley but would make a "reconnaissance in force," meaning they would look around and destroy or remove what they could find.

The U. S. Command said the American troops seized nearly 2,000 enemy rifles, 60 machine guns, more than 250,000 rounds of small arms ammunition, some 4,500 rounds of artillery, rocket, mortar and recoilless rifle ammunition, one tank, 66 trucks, several bulldozers and 71,205 tons of rice.

Another 700 due to arrive Friday from a caravan that began in Boston will be housed in suburban Maryland churches, officials said. They aren't yet sure where to send the 1,000 persons to arrive Saturday from a Midwestern caravan that was halted for two days in Pittsburgh to gain construction time.

Sioux City Air Unit Reaches Viet

SAIGON (AP) — Arrival of a second Air National Guard fighter squadron in South Vietnam was announced Friday by the U. S. Air Force.

The unit is the 174th Tactical Fighter Squadron, formerly the Iowa Air National Guard squadron. It flies F100 Supersabers and was based in Sioux City.

An Air Force announcement said the 174th completed its move from Sioux City to Phu Cat Air Base Friday, 275 miles northeast of Saigon on the South China Sea coast.

The 174th is commanded by Lt. Col. Gordon L. Young, 43, of Sioux City. It will be integrated into the 37th Tactical Fighter Wing at Phu Cat and will fly close air support for U. S. South Vietnamese and other allied ground forces in South Vietnam.

The first air national guard unit to arrive in Vietnam was the 12th Tactical Fighter Squadron which came May 3 from Buckley Air National Guard base in Colorado.

Construction has been slowed, organizers said, by rain and a shortage of money and volunteers.

saws and front-end loaders. In Charles City, hundreds of volunteer workers, many of them high school boys and girls and youths from nearby colleges, turned out to help in cleanup efforts. Schools in all the towns hit by the storms were closed, affording the youngsters time off.

Main street had been cleared there by Thursday night, affording passage to those vehicles approved for entry into the city.

National Guard troops sealed off the city to prevent sightseers from hampering recovery efforts.

In Oelwein, Mayor Samuel Mazzioffi said, "This city will come back. We're going to rebuild. This city has a great deal of faith in itself."

Hughes had said earlier that he had faith that Charles City and Oelwein would quickly rebuild but he expressed concern over the future of Maynard, population 515, which had part of its residential area virtually leveled.

"It's difficult for a small town to recover from something like this," he said.

But residents there went about their clean-up task with the same determination as those of the larger cities hit by the twisters.

Some citizens were stunned to think of rebuilding. "All I've got between me and nothing is this, and this is nothing," wept Mrs. Dorothy Clark of Oelwein as she picked over the remains of her shattered house. "This is all I had and I've worked all my life for it."

Others were thankful just to be alive. "We can start our lives over as long as the whole family is safe and alive," said James Clappier, 25, of Charles City.

Designation of northeast Iowa as a disaster area by Hughes clears the way for the communities to seek state disaster loans. The governor said he would ask the President next week to approve the use of federal aid to rebuild public facilities.

POLITICS IN BRIEF

By the Associated Press Here is a summary of top developments in the presidential campaigns:

ROCKEFELLER: Gov. Spiro T. Agnew of Maryland, once one of the most enthusiastic supporters of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, says he'll go to the GOP national convention as a favorite son.

NIXON: Richard M. Nixon, only other Republican actively pursuing the nomination, contends many ideas advanced by such diverse groups as black militants, dyed-in-the-wool Republicans, "new liberals" and spokesmen for the "new South" are similar and constitute a significant "alliance of ideas."

DEMOCRATS: Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey has visited the encampment of the Poor People's Campaign and told its leaders their mass lobbying effort "will bring results." Sen. Robert F. Kennedy says a "moderate" income tax increase is needed but that the tax hike spending cut package being readied in Congress will harm the economy.

Campaigning in Florida, Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy says the administration is inconsistent in its explanations of why the United States is fighting in Vietnam.

Talks

publicly released declaration and get down to secret bargaining.

"We will go on talking Saturday and then we will see," said Bui Huu Nhan of the North Vietnamese delegation.

North Vietnam is concentrating its efforts at this time on trying to force the United States to stop all bombing of the North without any matching Communist scale-down of military action. Another spokesman of the Hanoi group indicated to newsmen today that one way being used is to appeal to U.S. public opinion.

"More and more Americans," said Phan Hien, "ask themselves why the United States of America is involved in this atrocious war... the war of aggression in Vietnam."

He declared that to speak of a mutual de-escalation "is to put on an equal footing the aggressor and the victim of aggression."

In another development, the North Vietnamese group was reported planning to move Saturday from the Lutetia Hotel to a private house about 20 minutes drive from the International Conference Center. The hotel is on the Left Bank near the area of student uprisings at the university.

Jordan said the U.S. delegation has no plans to move out of the Hotel Crillon, next door to the U.S. Embassy, where its offices are.

Jordan was asked if there had been any reaction from the North Vietnamese to a reported American stand that restoration of the demilitarized zone between North and South Vietnam would be sufficient justification to cease U. S. attacks on the North.

Jordan said a decision on cessation of the bombing would be made at the highest level—that is, by President Johnson, based on the "total situation prevailing at the time."

Jordan disagreed with the questioner that it was precisely accurate to say restoration of an effective buffer zone would bring a total end to the bombing. He added: "I would say that the condition for the cessation of the bombing would have to be based on the total situation prevailing at the time."

In response to a question, Jordan said there had been no direct U.S.-North Vietnamese contact since Wednesday's meeting and no indirect contact so far as he knew.

Informed French and American diplomats expect a compromise deal between the two parties here to end bombing of the North despite an appearance of stalemate.

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—Marquette, believed near a breakthrough into national basketball rankings, has withstood a breakthrough over racial issues.

Six Negro players, including the sensational junior George Thompson, withdrew from the university Thursday but changed their minds some hours later.

Thompson, in a statement early Friday, said, "We still firmly believe in this cause and will support it in as many ways as possible. However, we feel that as basketball players we can best work in support of this group by remaining in school and working through the proper university channels."

SIGN CULTURAL PACT MOGADISHU, Somalia (AP)—Soviet Ambassador Semion Diukarev and Education Minister Aden Issak signed a two-year Soviet-Somali cultural agreement here recently. Issak said it represented "a great help for the Somali people."

CYCLONE TOLL RISES RANGOON (AP)—The death toll from cyclones that lashed Burma's southwest coast on May 10 has risen to 1,073, according to reports reaching here Friday.

Unrest Hits French Radio-TV

PARIS (AP) — Mushrooming unrest among France's students and workers spilled over Friday into the national radio-television network. Producers and directors of the network struck and radio-television newsmen said they would no longer accept government orders on how the news should be presented.

French stocks went down on the Paris Bourse. The franc sank to a new low with relation to the dollar and gold inched up slightly.

The strike movement rolled ahead with no apparent pattern. The Communist-led General Confederation of Labor called a meeting of its national committee to try to keep control of the movement, and probably push it along.

The long latent unrest spread despite a television appeal by Premier Georges Pompidou for calm. Pompidou asked Frenchmen to "show that you refuse anarchy."

PUBLISHER DIES BOSTON (AP)—Frank M. Herbert Jr., 47, publisher and treasurer of the Atlantic Monthly Co. died Thursday.
