

National Environmental Education Week

National Environmental Education Week, made possible by Canon, promotes understanding and protection of the natural world by actively engaging K-12th grade students and educators in an inspired week of environmental learning before Earth Day.

April 13 - 19, 2008

Educators play a critical role in inspiring young people to make a positive impact on the natural environment. National EE Week supports their efforts by providing schools, nature centers, zoos, museums, and aquariums with the resources they need to bring environmental learning and service into the classroom. As National Spokesperson for EE Week, I invite you to partner with us. Log on to www.EEWeek.org to register today.

Alexandra Cousteau
Co-founder, EarthEcho International

For more information contact us
at (202) 261-6484
or to register
visit www.EEWeek.org

A program of

National Environmental Education Foundation

Knowledge to live by

Made possible by

Canon